

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A work support information extracting program and a work support information extracting system using the program assist in extracting work support information by inputting staff/organization DB containing the organization structure and staff structure in a staff/organization DB input process, extracting the work DB containing a work item, a work carrying-out unit and work carrying-out condition, and generating the work support flow data, well-coordinated throughout the organization, from the staff /organization DB and work DB in the work support flow generating process.